

Cell Phone - in general

On page 184 (internet only - not in a printed manual) you may find a small a cross-reference and an obscure link that takes you on a website journey. As if you would ever go that deep into the manual. It would seem as though they seek to protect themselves from any possible future lawsuits by suggesting you hold the phone away from your body when carrying it or making a call in order not to have any direct contact with your skin! See appendix for details.

Those who advertise and promise that sticking certain products to your cell phone for example will handle the EMF (Electro Magnetic Field) claiming to stop or to reduce EMF, are misleading you.

A cell phone needs an EMF to make it work. Without an EMF you cannot make or receive any calls or data transfers.

If the cell phone does not receive enough "juice" from ONE side of the phone, it will simply pull the EMF needed from the OTHER side of your phone. That could mean even more EMF penetrating into your head!

The human being has a natural electromagnetic field of 60 to 90 millivolts of EMF. To stay in good health a person should never be exposed to more than 120 millivolts of EMF. Simply using your cell phone can increase these levels to 2000 millivolts and much higher.

The IPC SafestCellPhone™, takes a completely different approach to handling the harmful EMF problem. Now, thanks to the EuphoriaTechnology™, which IPC developed over the last 12 years - harmful the EMF is converted to a type of frequency that is completely body friendly. A conversion of an evil to a good

Frequencies

Our planet is based on frequencies. There are only 2 types of frequencies.

Good Ones - Pro-Survival

Bad Ones - Counter Survival

Toxic non survival frequencies include: more than 75,000 registered chemicals, EMF from cell phones, Wi-Fi, microwave ovens, computers and computer screens, GMO's, artificial and "natural" flavors, preservatives, fluoride, chlorine, chloramines, chemtrails and many more.

Most of all counter survival products have been developed and inflicted on humanity only over the past 200 years and are "indigestible" by humans, animals, and most of the plantslife and crops.

A better, healthier future can only be achieved by eliminating bad frequencies and / or converting them into good frequencies. And this is one of the main targets of IPC.

The future of healing and health is in the use of good frequencies
- not pills or drugs.
